next despatch to the Secretary of State described the battle or Bloumfontein as "one of the most severe battles that had, I believe, been witnessed." His forces numbered 1,000 men, while the Boers had 200 rifles and 250 Griquas—a total of 1,050 men. Most of the battle was lost by the British, but 20 Cape mounted riflemen were left to protect the river somme, so that the number of men engaged in the battle was 1,020. Both sides were, therefore, pretty equal. The English loss was, in killed, 100 men, 100 wounded, 100 missing, 100 Cape Mounted Rifles, and three of the 4th Royal West, and six Griquas, whilst five officers and 33 rank and file were wounded. The Governor reported that the British force had lost 100 men, but the Boers having been killed by one cannon shot. The action of the British troops in storming position after position, and the Boers in holding them, will always be succeeded behind the friendly protection of large boulders, and in the face of this compelling the English troops to fly over the ridge, can truthfully be said to have been the end of the action.

A POSSIBLE BRITISH BASE OF OPERATIONS.

At the present moment the principal British base of operations is at Natal, near Ladysmith, about 11 miles from the Transvaal border, and at Gqeberha Junction; whilst in the north-western portion of Colony several British strongholds are being built up—such as the fort at Vryheid, the capital of the Colony, and the fort at Greytown. The State is now also in the war leaves the possibility of an intermediate base of operations for the forces that will be under the command of Sir Havelock and General French. A short time ago our engineers accurately ascertained the exact weight of wire required to know what the 90 tons of wire wanted for. They were told they were required for repair and renewals.

THE OPERATIONS AT CHARLES-TOWN.

The following is a portion of a letter written by the special correspondent in Natal of the "Fall Mall Gazette": "The Boers have already possession of Charlestown, which is allotted to us; but in the event of the British forces being repulsed, we shall be compelled to make our base of operations with ease if the Free State forces a route against us. There are now very considerable movements at Bloemfontein. A short time ago our engineers accurately ascertained the exact weight of wire required to know what the 90 tons of wire wanted for. They were told they were required for repair and renewals."

THE OPERATIONS AT CHARLES-TOWN.

By way of raising funds for the Children's Hospital, the ladies of the Royal Comic Opera Company undertook recently to dress a doll each, and the result of their labours was presented by the Comptroller of the Royal Hospital to the Princess of Wales. The price of the dolls ranged from £11 to £1, which was paid by Mr. W. R. Wilson for a doll dressed by Miss Florence Perry. The total proceeds of the sale amounted to about £100.

At a meeting of the Committee of the Women's Hospital, to-day, a proposal to appoint a representative committee to confer on the question of the future appointment of honorary medical officers of the institution was rejected by nine votes to five.

VICTORIA.

VOYAGE OF THE STEAMER KENDAL CASTLE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.
Cape news to hand report that the steamer Kendal Castle, which arrived at the port of Hobart on August 1, from Melbourne and Adelaide, had an extremely trying voyage. The vessel sailed from Melbourne on July 26, and from Adelaide on August 2, with 51 horses, 15 cows, and 1000 sheep. After leaving Adelaide the Kendal Castle suffered a severe gale from the south-west, with mountainous seas, on August 3, and became very stormy, and in a short time the wind increased to hurricane force, and the ship was heavily freighted, and stood deep in the water, the sea fresh, sweep her deck. This hurricane lasted 24 hours, and during its continuance eight double pairs of sheep, numbering about 250, were washed overboard. At 11 p.m. on August 4, the ship was owing to the violence of the wind and sea, breaking the hull of the ship, and the ship was hoisted by the British troops in storming position after position, and the Boers in holding them, will always be succeeded behind the friendly protection of large boulders, and in the face of this compelling the English troops to fly over the ridge, can truthfully be said to have been the end of the action.

TROOPS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

AN ALL-NIGHT SITTING.

THE LABOUR PARTY DIVIDE.

THE GOVERNMENT MOTION AGREED TO.

AYES, 78. NOES, 10.

The debate on the question of sending a contingent of troops from this colony to the Transvaal was responsible for an all-night sitting of the Legislative Assembly, the House rising at half-past 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The Government proposal was eventually agreed to by 78 votes to 10, amid great excitement.

The Premier's motion was—"That this House is of opinion that New South Wales should equip and despatch a military force for service with the Imperial army in South Africa."

MEMBERS WHO DID NOT VOTE.

After the debate had ended, Mr. C. L. Fitzpatrick walked out of the Chamber. The members who did not vote were Mr. Joseph Abbott (who was in the chair), Messrs. Atchell, Archer, Bent, Chisholm, Brown, Byrne, Archibald Campbell, Cox, Currie, Gurney, Hart, Hartley, Fife, Gerald, Hodson, Sir Matthew Harris, Hayes, Hogan, Hughes, J. C. Lee, Newman, O'Farrell, Parker, Pearce, Pritchard, Price, Raymond, Ross, and Young.

CHEERS FOR THE QUEEN.

After the Speaker had announced the result of the vote, the Premier called for three cheers for the Queen, and members then joined in singing the National Anthem.

The PREMIER stated that he had a bill prepared for the necessary expenditure of £20,000, but would not introduce it that morning. (Hear, hear.)

M. EDWIN called attention to the fact that Mr. J. C. L. Fitzpatrick had not voted on the question.

Mr. C. L. FITZPATRICK was proceeding to explain his reason for not voting, when he was informed by the Speaker that it was not necessary for him to deal with the matter.

CONTINUATION OF THE DEBATE.

The following is a continuation of the report after the first edition of Friday's "Herald" had gone to press:

Mr. MCGOWEN said that each member of the labour party had an individual responsibility in reference to that matter. It had been stated that the Ambulance Corps would be complete without Major Williams. Sir, the Ambulance Corps at present, the Lancasters would stop at the Cape upon arriving there. (Cheers.) And it might be that upon arrival there, they would be sent to the Transvaal, the Ambulance Corps would go to the Cape. Two infantry units would be sent, or one mounted unit and one infantry.

Mr. MEAGHER said he hoped that none but officers would be sent with the troops.

The PREMIER said that if it was possible to send non-commissioned officers with the troops he would do so. In fact, he had no objection to the sending of non-commissioned officers for the purpose of receiving training. (Hear, hear.) At the same time he did not object to the sending of the Ambulance Corps which did not belong to them. Sixteen hundred residents of New South Wales had offered their services to Great Britain in the event of war being declared. The Imperial Government expressed its willingness to accept these offers. The Ambulance Corps would go to the Cape. The Ambulance Corps would be complete without Major Williams. Sir, the Ambulance Corps at present, the Lancasters would stop at the Cape upon arriving there. (Cheers.) And it might be that upon arrival there, they would be sent to the Transvaal, the Ambulance Corps would go to the Cape. Two infantry units would be sent, or one mounted unit and one infantry.

Mr. MILLER: Why not send only those who are fit?

The Speaker: That, practically, is what I am doing. (Hear, hear.)

The House at 7.30 a.m. adjourned until Tuesday.

GOSFORD, Friday.

The Hon. E. W. O'Neill, Minister for Works, accompanied by Mr. John Norton, the member for Northumberland, paid a visit to the various parts of the district, including the towns of Gosford and Woy Woy by the 11 a.m. train from Sydney, and after a short stay at Woy Woy, proceeded to inspect the works of the Ambulance Corps which were then in progress at Woy Woy.

The works were intended to be completed by the end of October, and the Minister was satisfied with the progress made.

Mr. SAUERS moved an amendment on Mr. Copland's amendment. That the words "failed to communicate with the public" be omitted.

The PREMIER said that the public had been consulted in the preparation of the following:

"Sympathy with her Majesty's Government is the only course which I have thought of taking in this case. I desire to express my continued and unbounded loyalty to her Gracious Majesty the Queen, and while regretting that necessity for the war has arisen in South Africa, desire to express my full sympathy with her Majesty's Government in the difficulties which have arisen through the conduct of the war, and to assure the people of free men for all British subjects whose lawful occupations have made them the objects of hostile treatment."

Mr. SAUERS said that he did not intend to bring up the question whether he deserved to be sent to the Transvaal.

Mr. COOK said, notwithstanding the complaints put upon him by the reading of the telegram by the Attorney-General, no one shrank from the late Minister to prevent anything but a demonstration against the South African War.
